Note: Q5 is a tricky one. Accept either C or D if students give a solid explanation.

Part 2: Rewrite the Sentence

 Change the point of view as instructed.

Q6: Rewrite this third-person sentence in first-person:
"She walked along the trail, listening to the birds."

I walked along the trail, listening to the birds.

Q7: Rewrite this first-person sentence in third-person:
"I couldn't believe I had forgotten my homework again!"

Ella couldn't believe she had forgotten her homework again!

Q8: Rewrite this third-person limited sentence in third-person omniscient:
"Maya felt nervous, but she didn't know that her friend Sam was just as worried."

Maya felt nervous, and her friend Sam was just as worried, though neither said a word.

Part 3: Identify and Explain (18–20)

 Read the excerpt. Identify the point of view and explain how you know.

Q9: "He stared at the open door, wondering if he should walk in. He couldn't hear a sound inside."

Point of View: Third-person limited

How do you know? we see only one character's thoughts.

Q10: "You open the book and begin to read, not knowing that a surprise is waiting for you at the end."

Point of View: Second person

How do you know? uses "you," speaking directly to the reader.
